

Marketing Support

- Permanent Full-Time opportunity
- Join a financial services firm that has a great culture and values its people
- 'Free' leave over the festive season & great employee benefits

There you are sitting at the coffee shop.

You say to your friend "I've been out of uni for over a year and I think I need more of a challenge. I want a marketing role that's more diverse, more fun, and especially somewhere I can put my digital marketing experience to better use".....

Does this sound familiar? Well, meet DPM... we think we are a pretty great place to work.

Who we are looking for:

- A marketing superstar who is ready for the next challenge in their career
- Someone experienced at 'owning' their own workload and wants access to an energetic and innovative mentor
- Someone passionate for building strong relationships and has a high level of initiative

Reporting to a progressive, energetic and development-focused Manager, you will:

- Receive extensive support in understanding our company and unique client base
- Contribute (and make an impact!) to our online and social media presence
- Be mentored by a progressive and innovative leader
- Represent our brand at various internal/external events
- Be part of an environment that will nurture your creative flair and analytical skills

But there is a catch. You should have:

- Similar experience in a similar role (min 2 years)
- A tertiary or post graduate qualifications in Marketing
- A good level of understanding of the fundamentals of offline and online marketing/brand management
- High levels of initiative with the ability to be innovative and 'think outside of the box'
- A high level of attention to detail and sound communication skills (verbal and written)
- A natural flair for building relationships with key business stakeholders
- Experience with Adobe Creative Suite including Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign (highly desired)
- Strong digital experience with automation systems, CRM, CMS and a good understanding of SEO principles is highly regarded (notions of html coding are a plus)
- Experience working with social media and online-based communication channels
- Experience writing and/or editing targeted content for multiple channels (highly desired)
- Understanding of Facebook and other social media channel's guidelines, advertising and reporting is a plus.
